

Your data limit will either be 300MB or 750MB per month, depending on the plan your connection is on. With your data limit set, you will receive a warning on your phone when you are reaching your limit and mobile data will be turned off once you have reached your allocated allowance. It is recommended to keep your data limit and reminder set as you may be liable for exceeded data limit charges, which will show up on the monthly bill for your connection.

Restricting background data will restrict some functions to work over WiFi only, so will therefore save on data usage.
